

GOING GLOBAL

Homegrown jeweller Carrie K recently launched two collections from its signature line Veritas by Carrie K at Tranoi, the prestigious Parisian trade show. 'Heavy Mettle' features statement leather pieces which are reversible and have a metallic look. For fun jewellery pieces, we love the bowtie from the 'Gender Bender' collection. The versatile sterling silver jewellery item comes with detachable straps, allowing you to wear it as a necklace or actual bow tie. Earlier in the year, Carrie K made its international debut at Make One's Mark, a concept store in Japan which serves as a platform for up-and-coming fashion talents.

CRYSTAL INVASION

Get your hands on the latest Singapore-based jewellery label now available on Doorstepluxury.com, Trixie Khong's By Invite Only. The label has captured our hearts since its launch in 2009 with the eclectic handmade jewellery inspired by 18th century circuses and the Victorian era, and all her jewellery pieces are limited to less than 200 pieces. 'Nature//Nurture' is one of the three main By Invite Only style-lines and features agate necklaces, rough stone pendants and chain bracelets available in a wide array of raw crystals and semi-precious stones sourced from mines in Brazil and Arkansas.

ALL GROWN UP

"Friends Forever" is a common saying, but what happens when you've both grown up? Guess jewellery takes the traditional friendship bracelet to another level with its unique half-bangle styles which can be mixed and matched. The bracelets feature signature motifs and design details and come in a colourful array of bright summer colours. With crystals, adjustable cords and engraved scripted logos, it'll be easy to find a pair of bracelets that reflect the unique personalities of you and your BFF.

META-MORPHIC ROCK

Twelve years since its inception, Bulgari's signature B.zero1 ring has been reinvented with pavé diamonds and coloured stones. Adding to the expanded collection, the famous spiral now pairs rose gold with three stunning varieties of marble: green bowenite, lapis blue and tobacco brown. Staying true to the spirit of creativity, Bulgari creates a contemporary piece of jewellery by integrating this classic natural material which has been used by artists and sculptors since 5th century BC.
